The spirit of resistance is alive all over the world. Humanity is fighting back against tyranny. The kind of people who are trying to impose the Great Reset are degraded individuals, corrupted individuals, emptied of all inner moral content and motivated purely by fearful conformism and egotistical self-advancement. These grey-faced and dead-eyed technocrats have no idea what strength, what courage, what infinite yearning for freedom lies deep with the collective human heart and is waiting to surge forth with unstoppable and joyful life-energy to defend its future happiness when this is at mortal risk.

But they are about to find out!

10 things we have learned during the Covid Coup

- 1 Our political system is hopelessly corrupt. Virtually all politicians are hopelessly corrupt. No political party can be trusted. They all can be, and have been, bought.
- 2 Democracy is a sham. It has been a sham for a very long time. There will never be any real democracy when money and power amount to the same thing.
- 3 The system will stop at nothing to hold on to its power and, if possible, increase its levels of control and exploitation. It has no scruples. No lie is too outrageous, no hypocrisy too nauseating, no human sacrifice too great.
- 4 So-called radical movements are usually nothing of the sort. From whatever direction they claim to attack the system, they are just pretending to do so and serve to channel discontent in directions which are harmless to the power clique and even useful to its agendas.
- 5 Any "dissident" voice you have ever heard of through corporate media is probably a fake. The system does not hand out free publicity to its actual enemies.
- 6 Most people in our society are cowards. They will jettison all the fine values and principles which they have been loudly boasting about all their lives merely to avoid the slightest chance of public criticism, inconvenience or even minor financial loss.

- 7 The mainstream media is nothing but a propaganda machine for the system and those journalists who work for it have sold their sorry souls, placing their (often minimal) writing skills entirely at the disposition of Power.
- 8 Police are not servants of the public but servants of a powerful and extremely wealthy minority which seeks to control and exploit the public for its own narrow and greedy interests.
- 9 Scientists cannot be trusted. They will use the hypnotic power of their white coats and authoritative status for the benefit of whoever funds their work and lifestyle. He who pays the piper calls the tune.
- 10 Progress is a misleading illusion. The "progress" of increasing automation and industrialisation does not go hand in hand with a progress in the quality of human life, but in fact will "progressively" reduce it to the point of complete extinction.

Naomi Klein's climate of hypocrisy

Naomi Klein is still remembered by many as an influential figure in the anti-globalisation/anti-capitalism movement which shook the Western world 20 years ago.

Books like No Logo and, later, The Shock Doctrine, opened many people's eyes for the first time to the manipulative ways of the global neoliberal system.

It is only to be expected, therefore, that there are parts of her latest book, How To Change Everything, with which we are in agreement.

For example, we would very much echo her description of "disaster capitalism" as being "when the rich and powerful take advantage of painful shocks to widen existing inequalities instead of correcting them".

Likewise, we are completely on board with her warnings against greenwashing, "the environmental movement's drift toward business-oriented solutions" and "the powerful influence of pro-business ideas".

But, sadly, the work as a whole leaves a saccharine after-taste of inauthenticity in the mouth of the discerning reader.

There are times when one has the impression of reading not so much a book as a glossy advertising brochure for the "renewable energy" industry, aka climate capitalism.

How To Change Everything is, in fact, compelling evidence of "the powerful influence of pro-business ideas" of which it complains!

The fake green youth "movement" it is trying to help build is intended to push the agenda of a Green New Deal, which is nothing but a massive hand-out of public money to those astute businessfolk and financiers who have invested in the deceitful "renewables" bubble.

It is telling that, at a time when people are increasingly clued up about the Great Reset, Klein was wheeled out on the once-interesting The Intercept site to declare that any such insight was "a viral conspiracy theory" which "blends together legitimate critiques with truly dangerous anti-vaccination fantasies and outright coronavirus denialism".

In 2021, Naomi Klein is no longer warning us about the global ruling class's "Shock Doctrine" but, cynically and hypocritically, helping to advance it.

Fighting techno-fascism

If we are going to effectively fight back against the 21st century techno-fascist system we are going to have to let go of many of the political terminologies and divides of the past and reframe our resistance in terms of what is really happening out there. We are in a whole new war, which we cannot afford to lose! An excellent way to start this process is to watch and absorb this key new 25-minute video, Globotics, from our friends at Book of Ours. Also highly recommended are their recent mini-videos Geofencing, Infantilized, and Reciprocity. See tinyurl.com/f2yh28vv

"While some among us pass the time accusing well-meaning people of racism, the bio-security state is erecting its digital surveillance control grid all around us, through the creation of 'impact' economies, initiated by the finance and technology oligarchs". Solidarity with our comrades from 325 magazine, who have met with police-state repression on account of their uncompromising opposition to techno-fascism. A communiqué explains that Dutch police raided a data center and seized their server. "This was not just an attack by the Dutch police, but was done in coordination with the Counter Terrorism Unit of the UK in connection with their recent repressive attacks upon the anarchist circles in this country. It is also no coincidence that this repressive attack occurs now after our recent publication of 325 #12 – Against the Fourth and Fifth Industrial Revolutions. This publication that we feel hits to the core of what the states and capitalism are pushing forward, before and even more so now, under the cover of the Covid-19 pandemic, is a direct threat to their plans of subjugation, of robotizing and automizing everything". tinyurl.com/844346jb

The rapid unravelling of the new "Great Reset" order is highly likely, argues Michael Meurer on the Reimagining Politics site. He adds: "Each of us is called upon to keep our wits in order to navigate these choppy waters with vision, intelligence, persistence, vigilance and engagement. Both the thrill and danger of the most intense rapids lie ahead". tinyurl.com/4p6xxuzx
